1 P R O C E E D I N G S

2 THE COURT: Good morning.

3 MR. SUSSBERG: Good morning, Your Honor.

4 Joshua Sussberg, Kirkland & Ellis, on behalf of the debtor, 5 along with my colleague Jon Henes. Your Honor, first, thank 6 you very much for accommodating us and moving this hearing from 7 last week to this week. It gave us an opportunity to work out 8 a few issues.

9 THE COURT: Good.

10 MR. SUSSBERG: And I'm happy to say that everything's 11 contested, so we can be relatively brief. Working off the 12 agenda that was filed on Tuesday, item number 1 is a motion to 13 approve a settlement and release agreement between ION Media 14 Networks, Inc. and RHI Entertainment Distribution, LLC. The 15 motion was filed on July 15th. As I've mentioned, there were 16 no objections to this motion. The parties are subject to a 17 licensing agreement for programming and content that's aired on 18 the ION network, and there were disputes that arose between the 19 parties as to certain payments that were due and owing in 20 accordance with that agreement. ION commenced an adversary 21 proceeding in this court on June 8, 2009, shortly after the 22 commencement of the case, and filing the commencement of the 23 adversary proceeding ION and RHI engaged in discussions
24 regarding the allegations that were set forth in the complaint, 25 as well as certain counterclaims and defenses that RHI asserted

1 that it would, in fact, assert in the adversary proceeding.
2 The parties were able to work through their differences, and on 3 July 15th the parties entered into a settlement agreement as 4 presented to Your Honor.

5 Briefly, Your Honor, and this was following arm's 6 length discussions, both among the business people as well as 7 the advisors, the settlement agreement provides for the payment 8 by RHI to ION of 2.5 million dollars in full and final 9 settlement of any and all payments that would otherwise be due 10 and owing under the agreement.

11 As far as advertising collections and revenues which 12 are contemplated under the agreement with respect to RHI 13 programming that's aired on the network and for which RHI has 14 the right to go out and solicit advertising during that 15 programming, the parties will retain for their own account all 16 money collected from advertising sales through June 30, 2009.
17 Thereafter anything collected by RHI will be turned over to 18 ION, and anything collected by ION will be retained by ION.
19 The parties will also have mutual releases and a dismissal of 20 the adversary proceeding, which cleans up the status conference 21 that was supposed to be held today. And, in addition, the 22 programming agreement will be terminated as of the date the 23 Court enters an order, if the Court so enters an order 24 approving the settlement. Ion believes this will provide an 25 opportunity to obtain more fulsome programming on its network,

1       that will provide us with an opportunity to generate additional 2       revenues from advertising that would otherwise go to the 3       benefit of RHI under these agreements.

4             THE COURT: So does this terminate the business
5       relationship between ION and RHI?

6             MR. SUSSBERG: It does, Your Honor. It does. And I
7       think both parties are happy with the arrangement going forward 8       and believe it will be mutually beneficial on both sides.

9             Your Honor, as I said, I believe, and we all believe, 10      this settlement is fair and equitable and within the best
11      interests of the estate, well within the company's business 12      judgment. With that I'm happy to answer any questions Your 13      Honor may have.

14            THE COURT: My only question is really the creditors'
15      committee. I assume they're involved in this and have reviewed 16      the settlement and are satisfied with it.

17            MR. SUSSBERG: Yes. I have not heard otherwise from 18      the creditors' committee, but I'll defer to counsel on that 19      point.

20            MR. JUNG: Your Honor, the committee has no objection.

21            THE COURT: Fine. It's approved.

22            MR. SUSSBERG: Thank you, Your Honor. I'll hand up
23      orders now or I can wait till the end.

24            THE COURT: Wait till the end.

25            MR. SUSSBERG: Okay. Your Honor, item number 2 on the

1 agenda is the debtors' second omnibus motion to rejection
2 certain contracts and leases. This motion was filed on July 3 15th. There was actually one formal objection and one informal
4 objection, and in a moment I'll hand up a blackline of a 5 proposed order which reflects adjustments to that order that 6 resolves both of these objections. I will note for the record
7 that an affidavit of service was filed on July 22nd, and all 8 counterparties to contracts and leases that are subject to the 9 motion were, in fact, served with the motion.

10 Your Honor, and we've recently filed yet another 11 omnibus rejection motion, and, suffice it to say, the company 12 continues to review its contracts and leases and assess whether 13 or not these obligations make sense going forward and whether 14 or not these actually are a drain on estate resources. And the 15 second omnibus rejection motion includes thirteen different 16 agreements that the company believes are no longer necessary, 17 no longer appropriate from an administrative expense 18 standpoint. And the agreements in the motion, and subject to 19 the motion, include a ground lease for transmission and receipt 20 of television signals, tower attachment agreements, which had 21 provided analog signals that are no longer necessary for 22 operation as a result of the change to digital, programming
23 license agreement for the show ER with Warner Brothers
24 Entertainment. The costs associated with that programming
25 agreement were extremely high and the corresponding revenues

1       were extremely low. And, as a result, the company believes it 2       no longer is appropriate to move forward with airing of the 3       show ER. There's also a network affiliation agreement for a 4       station in Memphis, Tennessee. That agreement, the affiliation
5       agreement itself, is set to expire in September, and, as a 6       result, various programming agreements that relate to that 7       affiliation agreement which extend beyond September are no
8       longer necessary for the company. So, as a result, the company 9       is seeking to reject those and a related advertising agreement.

10                  And, finally, there are agreements relating to ION's 11       joint venture interest in Qubo Venture LLC, which is a 12       children's programming network that is no longer economically 13       feasible for the company, and, as a result, they're seeking to 14       reject certain of those agreements relating to the venture.

15                  Briefly, Your honor, with respect to the objections, 16       and if I may hand up a blackline at this point?

17                  THE COURT: Yes, you may.

18                  (Pause)

19                  THE COURT: Thank you.

20                  MR. SUSSBERG: Your Honor, the debtors were party to a 21       tower attachment agreement in Boston at the Prudential Center.
22       And as has been the case with a few other agreements which, as 23       I've mentioned, related to analog, the debtors have determined 24       that they no longer need these leases and have rejected them.
25       And there are certain takedown costs associated with those

1 leases. And the leases actually provide that the property
2 that's left behind will be subject to takedown by the landlord.
3 And we had provided for nunc pro tunc rejection of this 4 agreement, which had expired following the petition date but 5 shortly after the petition date, to clarify the rights of 6 parties. And while the agreement had been expired we had been 7 in dialogue with the landlord, and there were certain issues as 8 to whether or not there were obligations going forward which 9 caused this to be executory. So in the motion we noted very 10 plainly that to the extent this contract was, in fact, 11 executory, we were seeking to reject it.

12 The landlord subsequently filed an objection, and the 13 landlord made arguments that related to our holdover status, 14 arguing that the property that was left behind, notwithstanding 15 the provisions in the lease, constituted a holdover of the 16 leasehold interest, and we were, therefore, required to pay the 17 charges going forward for the intervening months subsequent to 18 the petition being filed. Following discussions and 19 negotiations with the landlord we've agreed, as reflected 20 paragraphs five through nine of the blackline, which I will 21 briefly walk through.

22 THE COURT: It's a lot of language for a very small 23 lease.

24 MR. SUSSBERG: Your Honor, we tend to agree, but we 25 think it's very thorough and clear so there will be no dispute

1 as to the rights of the parties.

2 Very briefly, Your Honor, and I'll summarize the five 3 paragraphs briefly, everyone agrees that the lease shall be 4 rejected nunc pro tunc to the petition date. ION will not seek 5 to claw back any payments made for May rent or other charges 6 that were paid before the commencement of these cases. And as 7 far as certain structures that were left behind on the 8 property, we've agreed that in accordance with the lease 9 document itself that property will be maintained by the 10 landlord and shall be in its possession and control, and we'll 11 convey whatever documentation we have in our possession, 12 custody and control. And, in addition, all of the takedown 13 costs will be borne by the landlord, and they will have the 14 right to file a general unsecured rejection claim as a result 15 of the rejection of the lease which includes all of the various 16 takedown costs.

17 In addition, Your Honor, there was an informal 18 objection from an entity known as HRP. This relates to the My 19 Network affiliation agreement in Memphis. HRP was the national 20 sales executive responsible for placing advertisements during 21 the programming for the My Network affiliation. We've agreed 22 in the order, and I believe it's in paragraph 5 of the 23 blackline, Your Honor -- excuse me. Paragraph 4 of the 24 blackline -- that the HRP advertising agreement will be 25 rejected nunc pro tunc to August 3rd of last week. And to the 1 extent there were advertisements that were placed prior to the 2 rejection date, any commissions that are subsequently borne 3 from the placement of those advertisements and the airing of 4 those advertisements, whether it be in September or October, 5 will be paid to HRP as and when due. We've confirmed with 6 HRP's counsel that that resolves their objection.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Is there anyone here on behalf of 8 either the Boston landlord or HRP who wishes to comment?

9 MS. DRISCOLL: Yes, Your Honor. Theresa Driscoll on 10 behalf of BP Prucenter Acquisition, LLC. Mr. Sussberg has 11 accurately represented the terms of our agreement. I've 12 reviewed the proposed order, and I believe Mr. Sussberg will be 13 submitting an order to Your Honor at some point today. I think 14 subsequent to the hearing, however.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I'll approve the rejection 16 subject to the order as modified in a manner that's acceptable 17 to counsel for the objecting party.

18 MR. SUSSBERG: Thank you, Your Honor. I think there 19 was one reference in a subparagraph that referred to a 20 paragraph that had changed, so we'll make the modification and 21 submit that to Your Honor later today, if that's okay.

22 THE COURT: Fine.

23 MR. SUSSBERG: Your Honor, item number 3 on the agenda 24 is the debtors' motion to seek an extension of the period of 25 time to remove certain civil actions. Briefly, Your Honor, the 1 motion was filed on July 15th. There were no objections.

2 Debtors are party to various civil actions in state and federal 3 courts, some of which may be subject to removal under 28 U.S.C.
4 1452. Per Bankruptcy Rule 9027 our time to remove those 5 actions expires on August 17th as a result of various 6 intervening factors and the attention that management has given 7 to date on other matters that were required in these Chapter 11 8 cases. We have not yet had a fulsome opportunity to evaluate 9 the removal of these actions, and, as a result, we've sought a 10 ninety day extension of the removal period.

11 THE COURT: There's no objection. The motion is 12 granted.

13 MR. SUSSBERG: Thank you, Your Honor. Your Honor, 14 items number 4 and 5 in the agenda are retention applications 15 that the debtor has filed to retain the services of KPMG as its 16 accounting advisor and E&Y LLP as its tax advisor. And if Your 17 Honor does not mind I would like to take these two matters 18 together, because they've been linked with some informal 19 objections that have been resolved.

20 THE COURT: Please, take them together.

21 MR. SUSSBERG: Thank you, Your Honor. Your Honor,
22 both applications were filed on July 15th, and while no written 23 objections were filed there were certain informal objections, 24 including the United States Trustee's Office that had a rather 25 lengthy objection, and I'm happy to report that we were able to 1 address those concerns, as well as the concerns of the 2 committee and the lenders, and, as a result, filed supplemental 3 declarations in further support of the applications on July 4 31st for E&Y, August 4th for KPMG. And attached to those 5 supplemental declarations are revised proposed orders that 6 address all of the various concerns.

7           Briefly, Your Honor, as far as the concerns that are 8 set forth in the declarations in the order, to the extent there 9 is a connection to a party in interest in these cases, as 10 originally identified on a schedule to the original declaration 11 in support of the retention, both KPMG and E&Y have noted to 12 the extent they have a connection to those parties, it's 13 unrelated to these Chapter 11 cases, and there's no interest
14 adverse to the debtors or their ability to provide the debtors 15 with service.

16           In addition, at the U.S. Trustee's request, the 17 proposed orders that we have submitted very specifically and 18 carefully lay out the services that both KPMG and E&Y will be 19 providing.

20           THE COURT: And I take it they don't overlap.

21           MR. SUSSBERG: They do not overlap, Your Honor, and I 22 think this is one of the instances where there are not dual 23 accounting firms that are providing accounting services, yet
24 different accounting services. This is actually an instance 25 where we have two firms. One is solely providing tax services.

1       One is solely providing accounting services. And so I
2       understand from the U.S. Trustee where there are instances 3       where two accounting-type firms are retained in a case it's 4       very important to make sure there's no duplication of services.
5       And we've carefully laid that out here, and I can tell you that 6       the debtors will represent to the Court, and we've represented 7       to the U.S. Trustee, that we will do everything in our power to 8       ensure that there will be no duplication of efforts on any 9       professional's part.

10           Your Honor, to the extent additional services are 11       requested of the debtors and agreed to by KPMG and/or E&Y the 12       proposed order provides that any such additional services will 13       be subject to a subsequent engagement letter and will be 14       presented as a notice of presentment to Your Honor for 15       consideration. To the extent there's no objection an order may 16       be entered, but we will not be submitting additional engagement 17       letters on negative notice, at the request of the U.S. Trustee.
18       Any rates increases as far as the hourly rate is concerned for 19       either of these firms will be memorialized in a supplemental 20       declaration, filed with the Court, served on all parties in 21       interest.

22           There were removals of limitations on liability and 23       certain features of indemnification with respect to the KPMG 24       engagement letter, and the order carefully lays out which 25       aspects of indemnification will ride through and which will be

1       eliminated as part of the engagement in these Chapter 11 cases.

2                 I will also note that the E&Y supplemental declaration 3       indicates that there was a prepetition retainer of 50,000 4       dollars that was used in its entirety, but a credit has been 5       borne that is due and owing to ION, and E&Y will seek, pursuant 6       to an application for approval of its fees to this Court, to 7       apply services that have been rendered and fees associated with 8       those services against the credit. So ION will, in fact, 9       retain the ability to get that credit at a later date.

10               THE COURT: What's the amount of the credit?

11               MR. SUSSBERG: It's 50,000 dollars, Your Honor. As 12       far as the date of retention for each of these agreements, and 13       my understanding is that all parties in the court today have 14       agreed to this, E&Y's agreement and the application will be 15       nunc pro tunc to the petition date, notwithstanding the fact 16       that E&Y's engagement letter was signed subsequent to the 17       petition date. There were services that were, in fact,
18       provided, related to our September 15th tax returns, that E&Y 19       has provided, so they'll be nunc pro tunc to May 19th. And 20       KPMG's application will be nunc pro tunc to June 26, 2009. I 21       believe we had stated it would be July 15th, and that was 22       incorrect. They had provided services before the filing of the 23       application and execution of the engagement letter.

24               With that, Your Honor, I'm happy to answer any 25       questions or address any concerns that any of the parties in

1 the courtroom may have.

2 THE COURT: I don't have any questions, but I'm going 3 to ask the U.S. Trustee's Office if the U.S. Trustee is 4 satisfied with the adjustments that have been made to these 5 applications and to the proposed form of order.

6 MS. GOLDEN: Susan Golden for the U.S. Trustee. Yes, 7 Your Honor, Mr. Sussberg has very accurately described the 8 modifications that have been made to both applications, and the 9 U.S. Trustee is satisfied and has no objection to the entry of 10 the orders.

11 THE COURT: Both retentions are approved.

12 MR. SUSSBERG: Thank you, Your Honor. At this point
13 I'm going to turn it over to counsel for the creditors'
14 committee to address items 6 and 7, and I'll be back before 15 Your Honor on one housekeeping matter at the end of the 16 hearing.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Fine.

18 MR. SUSSBERG: Thank you.

19 THE COURT: Let's go to the committee.

20 MR. JUNG: Good morning, Your Honor. Wojciech Jung
21 from Lowenstein Sandler on behalf of the official committee of 22 unsecured creditors. Your Honor, the committee has filed an 23 application to retain Lowenstein Sandler as its legal advisor.
24 The retention terms are set forth in our application and 25 certification of counsel that accompanies the application. The

1 retention terms would make the retention effective as of June 2 22nd, which was the formation date and the retention day of the 3 committee as its counsel. There have been no formal or 4 informal objections filed with respect to the application, and 5 we would ask the Court to approve it.

6 THE COURT: The application is approved.

7 MR. JUNG: Your Honor, the second application is the 8 committee's application to retain Chanin Capital Partners as 9 its financial advisors nunc pro tunc to June 23, 2009. Your 10 Honor, there was one formal objection filed by the Office of 11 the United States Trustee, as well as the committee received a 12 number of informal objections to that retention. I believe all 13 of the issues have been resolved. I have a blackline that I 14 would like to present to Your Honor with the changes.

15 THE COURT: Please approach.

16 MR. JUNG: Thank you.

17 THE COURT: Can you characterize for me the nature of 18 the informal objections that you received on Chanin?

19 MR. JUNG: Yes, Your Honor. The informal objections
20 concerned Chanin's payment terms. I'm going to go through them
21 for the Court. Initially Chanin agreed, and the committee 22 agreed, to a flat monthly fee of 175,000, subject to a 23 reduction following month four. There has been a change to 24 that, Your Honor. Right now Chanin's fee will be 150,000 for 25 the first four months of the retention. Those monthly fees

1 will subsequently decrease to 125,000 for the next two months, 2 and then it will go down to 100,000 dollars thereafter till the 3 end of the cases. An additional change that has been made is 4 to the crediting of the monthly fee to the restructuring fee.
5 Initially, crediting was to begin following month 4. That has 6 been moved up, so the credit will begin following month 2. In 7 addition, the amount of the restructuring transaction fee has 8 been lowered from 750,000 to 650,000 dollars.

9 THE COURT: When and how is that restructuring fee
10 earned? What has to happen in order for that to be earned?

11 MR. JUNG: Your Honor, there has to be a plan that is 12 confirmable to this case, and, of course, satisfactory to the 13 committee. There is no other milestone, so to speak, but those 14 are the terms of the engagement.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. JUNG: Your Honor, the United States Trustee's
17 objection, I believe, also related to the revision of certain 18 terms as they relate to the Blackstone Protocol. With the 19 revision the Office of the United States Trustee has its 330 20 review rights with respect to both the monthly fees as well as 21 the transaction fee.

22 THE COURT: Ms. Golden, do you wish to be heard on 23 this?

24 MS. GOLDEN: Yes, Your Honor. I'll address the 25 Blackstone issues first. Those were obviously informal

1       objections. That was really putting the form of order in 2       conformance with the Blackstone Protocol. That was really a 3       nonissue. That was really a drafting issue between our office
4       and Lowenstein Sandler and Chanin. In terms of the formal 5       objection that was filed in connection with the transaction fee 6       and the benchmarks required, which was a formal objection
7       which, I think, mirrored some of the behind the scenes 8       negotiations with the other parties, given the reduction in the 9       monthly fee going forward from 175 to 125 to 100,000 and the 10      reduction of the overall transaction fee and given the 11      projection of this case going forward, it is likely that in the 12      end the transaction fee would likely be eaten up by the monthly 13      credit since it was started in month two. So with all of those 14      reductions we were satisfied. And with that we withdraw our 15      objection.

16           THE COURT: All right. Fine. Is there anything more 17      on this?

18           MR. JUNG: That's all, Your Honor.

19           THE COURT: Application is approved.

20           MR. JUNG: Thank you.

21           MR. SUSSBERG: Your Honor, just to note for the 22      record. ION was extremely concerned with the level of the 23      payments to be provided under the Chanin retention and 24      especially the restructuring fee. We engaged in fulsome 25      discussions with Chanin and Lowenstein on behalf of the 1 committee to reduce those fees, and based upon what we believe 2 to be the projected timing of these cases, which is an 3 important segue to note for Your Honor that we do intend to 4 file a proposed plan of reorganization and related disclosure 5 statement in the very near future, hopefully within a couple of 6 days. We believe that the fees are reasonable at this point 7 and do reflect an appropriate market rate for what should be a 8 financial advisor's retention under these terms and conditions.

9 THE COURT: I'm glad you said that, because I've 10 already approved it.

11 MR. SUSSBERG: I wanted to make it clear on the 12 record. Thank you, Your Honor.

13 Last housekeeping item for Your Honor. We had filed a 14 motion to extend the period of time by which schedules and 15 statements would be filed. That was an ex parte motion and an 16 ex parte order was entered by Your Honor on July 2nd. And we 17 appreciate that. And it was extending it until the next 18 hearing date, at which time we could present the motion to Your 19 Honor. Subsequently we, in fact, filed our schedules and 20 statements on July 24th, thereby mooted what we had asked for 21 in that proposed motion and order. As a result, I'm not sure 22 it's necessary that the order be entered, but as a matter of 23 housekeeping we would submit the order just to clear up the 24 docket so that there was an order entered on the motion that 25 was filed to extend the deadline through the June 30th date.

1                   THE COURT: If you want an order, and it relates 2 simply to giving you comfort that you've complied with the 3 timing requirements, I'll be happy to enter it. If you don't 4 think you need it, it's just one extra electronic entry we can 5 avoid. Up to you.

6                   MR. SUSSBERG: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

7                   THE COURT: Now, one question about the timing of the 8 case. You mentioned that within a matter of days you 9 anticipate filing a plan. Has that plan been fully vetted with 10 the creditors' committee, and is it, at this juncture, a 11 consensual plan or is it a plan that is intended to be a 12 subject of ongoing negotiation?

13                  MR. SUSSBERG: Your Honor, at this point we have 14 circulated a draft of the plan and the related disclosure 15 statement to the creditors' committee. We will circulate a 16 draft of the plan and disclosure statement to Ms. Golden later 17 today. The lenders have seen a copy of the plan and disclosure 18 statement. I don't believe we've received comments yet from 19 the creditors' committee, and we certainly will discuss their 20 concerns, but I do not believe it would be fair at all to 21 characterize it as a consensual plan at this point, simply 22 because we haven't had any conversations with the committee.

23                  THE COURT: All right. I was just really reacting to 24 the fact that you said we were rather promptly going to be 25 seeing a plan, and I didn't know whether it was a plan or a

1 piñata.

2 MR. SUSSBERG: I don't believe it's a piñata, Your 3 Honor. It certainly looks, smells and feels like a plan.

4 THE COURT: Good.

5 MR. SUSSBERG: And we'll engage in discussions with 6 various parties as the time line unfolds.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Fine. I'll look forward to seeing 8 it when it's filed.

9 MR. SUSSBERG: Thank you, Your Honor. That is all for 10 today.

11 THE COURT: And are you filing it with the disclosure 12 statement?

13 MR. SUSSBERG: Yes, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: All right. Good. See you next time.

15 MR. SUSSBERG: Thank you.
